

THE LIFEGUARDS - Firm but Fair

Baywatch meets the municipal baths!

Perched high on their chairs our lifeguards attempt to impose the timeless values of the municipal baths onto the streets of your town.

“With whistles and flip flops we are warriors of modern times.”

Passing “swimmers” are chastised with the “whistle of shame” and the “wagging finger” of authority for breaching any of the rules. No horseplay goes unchallenged, no running tolerated, and petting is right out as the lifeguards affectionately improvise playful interactions with members of the public.

This is an original piece of comic street theatre that can animate a large area from any suitable vantage point. We classify it as a “static walkabout!”

Ideal for public spaces, festivals and conferences where there are people on the move. Great for maritime events, river festivals, etc.

Thank you for your hard work, particularly your positive attitude to the awful weather which was very refreshing
